Pentecost 2017

For ten years we as parish have celebrated Pentecost Sundays without ever quite realizing all that it means to bring a new Church into being. Maybe, now, we are ready for the experience, maybe we can appreciate Pentecost.

A quick review of what leads to Pentecost – a time of waiting for the Savior, and then his arrival in the form of a little child. The child grows up, learns a trade, hears a calling and begins to share the truth of God, God's love, and its ramifications for us.

Then the heart of the mystery – the Last Supper recalling the Passover supper, Eucharist, Passion, Death and Resurrection, and finally leading us to Ascension, positioning us for the Pentecost – the time when the Holy Spirit comes. Were the disciples ready for it? Ready or not, here's the Holy Spirit – arrived and doing with them all that God wills.

Through some great mystery a church building has occurred for us as parish. This came after some laborious time of Church Building by we who are the community of St. Luke. Have you noticed how the wind has never quite stopped blowing since we began construction? Ready or not, St. Luke is a reality as Church both in building and community.

And for ten years, I have tried to lead praying for the guidance of the Holy Spirit, praying that each of you would find your fire, find your unique relationship with God and then not be afraid to share it with others. It is still my prayer for you. And I know it happens most especially when you show up for an event, ministry, or some other occasion here at the parish.

Now my time to lead this "rag-tag assembly" (I mean it in the best way, and am borrowing from Battlestar Gallactica) has reached its closure, and you will have a new leader, but you have the same mission and call. Let the Holy Spirit grab your heart and kindle your heartfire anew. Trust that promise.

My task is to try and follow the Elijah road to my next adventure. I pray on this Pentecost Sunday that the Holy Spirit will be with us in a special way – through all the memories we've shared – and will take and lead us through those memories to our next tomorrows. Trust the promise of the Spirit!

-Fr. Brad
